
Background

Practice in Focus is an initiative that aims to draw attention to key research findings and clinical practice guidelines to contribute towards improvements in patient care and foster professional development. Developed by members of Leadership Committees or Practice Groups and published through the Interest Group discussion forum, summaries will be accompanied by expert commentary from contributing pharmacists or technicians, offering a unique perspective about the article itself and how it applies to the everyday practice of clinical pharmacy.

Each Specialty Practice stream will decide whether or not to publish Practice in Focus, and if so, at what frequency.

Submission Template

Title for Post	Short descriptor of study
Article Details	Stephanie Hoy reviewing Example A et al JAMA 2018 DOI link EBSCO link [to be added by SHPA if available for the journal article]
Background (2-3 sentences)	Why is this research important? What is already known about this topic?
Aim/s (1-2 sentence)	What was the aim of the study?
Method/s (3-4 sentences)	What did the study involve?
Result/s (3-4 sentences)	What were the key findings?
Key Limitation/s (1-2 sentences)	What were the key study limitations?
Impact on Practice	Expert commentary regarding how this evidence would/could be used to change your practice
Relevance to other specialty practice streams	Indicate if you think this post is of interest to other SHPA Specialty Practice Groups. List of groups available here: https://www.shpa.org.au/specialty-practice