
Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Practice Group application tips

June 2019

Cultural awareness/responsiveness training

Cultural responsiveness or awareness training is a mandatory requirement for acceptance into the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Practice Group. Please indicate in the relevant section that you have undertaken this training.

Additional information to include in your application

Experience in this field

Please include work you have done in an Aboriginal Health Service or advocacy group.

Additional qualifications

Qualifications that would be relevant to include are implementing change, working in cross-cultural settings, and advanced communication skills.

Research

Research and publications relating to Aboriginal health or cross-cultural practice.

Other information

Please describe how your interest in Aboriginal and Torres Strait islander health can be demonstrated and how you can contribute to the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health at a national level.